

HVAC Refrigeration Technician

Job Description

Robies has an immediate opening for a HVAC Refrigeration Technician. This position is for a skilled, motivated, efficient individual. The ideal candidate has experience in the HVAC field with knowledge and training in any of the following areas: commercial refrigeration systems, troubleshooting and repair of furnaces, heat pumps, condensing units, water heaters, boilers, generators, refrigeration or ductless systems. Candidates should have understanding of HVAC concepts and solid time management. Any HVAC related license is a huge plus. Robies pays our technicians from the time they leave their house until the time they get back home. Our technicians are empowered and respected and we have a strong team mentality and company culture.

For the right candidate, Robies will offer a signing bonus and hourly rate increase.
